FACTORY WORK A LITTLE OFF

April Shows Recession of 2 Per Cent in Plants Reporting To State—Few Evidences of Real Business Recovery.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, May 13.—After showing a slight improvement for two successive months, New York state factories again show a recession in activity in April. The preliminary tabulation of 1,575 manufacturers' reports, received by the Bureau of Statistics of the New York State Department of Labor, indicates that the number of factory workers employed in the state declined 2 per cent from March to April. This reduces the number of workers employed to only 1 per cent greater than in January, which was the month of lowest employment since January, 1915. Compared with March, 1920, the number of factory workers in April, 1921, shows a reduction of 25 per cent.

The tabulation of the April reports clearly indicates that industry in general has thus far shown few signs of a real recovery. The small gains in manufacturing activity reported during February and March were largely due to temporary increases in seasonal industries. In some of these industries the season is now on the decline and the result is a decrease in number of workers employed from March to April. In other industries, especially in the textile and clothing industries, seasonal work still continues, but the gains in employment reported during April are smaller in most cases than those which occurred in the preceding two months.

Employment in some of the metal industries and in the paper and printing industries continued to decline. The reductions in these industries are chiefly responsible for the decrease in the total number of workers reported in April. In New York city the strike situation in the men's clothing industry remained unchanged during April, while in the printing industry a strike of bookbinders affected several plants to a considerable extent.

Increased activity occurred in most of the textile and clothing industries in April. The most conspicuous gain reported was 18 per cent in the manufacture of knit goods. During the last three months the knit goods industry has more than doubled its working force, but the number employed in April was still one-third below the number at work a year ago. Considerable expansion in activity also appears in wool manufacturers, especially in rug and carpet factories, and in women's furnishings.

In spite of the gains reported in both industries during the last three months, neither has yet recovered fully. In the men's clothing and furnishings, millinery, silk goods, and miscellaneous textile industries and gains in employment proceeded more slowly in April. The end of the season in the manufacture of women's clothing accounts for a 6 per cent reduction in working force in that industry from March to April. The cotton goods and miscellaneous sewing industries also show decreases in employment during the month, while a small gain was reported in laundering.

Seasonal activity in the building industry is responsible for greater production in the cement and plaster and brick industries in April. The gain in the brick industry amounted to 21 per cent. Employment in the manufacture of abrasives, graphite and glass is still declining.

COURT ORDERS RUM DESTROYED

The liquor recently seized by the police department at the Hotel Elch, on Railroad avenue was directed to be destroyed by Judge Joseph M. Fowler in county court on Thursday. No claim for the liquor having been made by Conrad Rabel, proprietor of the hotel, in whose private apartments part of the liquor was seized. The rest of the liquor was found by the police in the cellar of the building. Testimony as to seizure of the liquor was given by Policeman Elliott, who said the search and seizure was carried on by Chief Wood, Sergeants Hanley and Plimner, and Policemen Fatum and himself, while Policeman Shuler was outside the hotel. The total amount of liquor found by the police in the cellar and in Mr. Rabel's private apartments consisted of two one-gallon jugs and four quart bottles of whiskey, one quart of brandy and one quart of Santa Cruz rum.

Queen Esther Banquet. The Queen Esther Circle of the St. James Methodist Episcopal Church enjoyed a fine banquet at the Eagle Hotel on Tuesday evening. There was a large attendance of the young women under the leadership of the president, Miss Montague. Miss Blanche Rompage presided as toast mistress, and the superintendent, Miss Maud Riney, presided, urging the women to greater devotion to the work. Miss Maryetta Riney presided in her usual charming manner, as also did Miss Edith Chase. Altogether it was a most successful affair, and was a group of the interested taken in the work of Home Missions by the young women of St. James Church.

BOTH AHEAD THIS MORNING

Dollar Day Buyers Mostly Got What They Sought And Merchants' Increased Sales Offset Pared Profits.

Dollar Day in Kingston was a decided success judging from the number of people who thronged the streets all day Thursday to secure the many bargains which the progressive merchants of Kingston offered. The purchasing powers of a dollar have been rapidly increasing for the past few months but the climax was reached Thursday when the Dollar Day bargains were displayed.

In many of the stores articles valued at considerably more than a dollar were sold for a dollar. In other stores smaller articles were grouped together in lots and sold for a dollar while in others on larger articles one dollar was deducted from the original purchase price. In every store there were bargains and hundreds of willing purchasers took advantage of the reductions.

Early in the morning the stores began to fill up, at first with local people who came out early to avoid the rush which developed later in the day, then the early morning trains began to pour in their crowds and later came the people from the surrounding territory who came by automobile. Every one of the stores did an unusual business and both merchant and customer were more than satisfied with Dollar Day. The success of the entire affair is largely due to the splendid cooperation of the merchants of the city who worked faithfully with W. H. Rudderham, chairman of the Retail Branch of the Chamber of Commerce, who had charge of the Dollar Day sale.

NEW DEPARTMENT STORE ON STRAND

S. Baker & Son completed removing the stock in their five and ten cent store from No. 7 East Strand to No. 33 East Strand today. The store they now occupy had been vacant for several years, and was last used by Marks Jacobs, the Broadway tailor, before he removed his present location on lower Broadway.

Alcon Brothers, who own the building formerly occupied by Baker's store, have planned to have the entire store remodeled and a new front installed, and expect to open it as a department store some time in June.

GLASCO BALL TEAM Ready and Has Fine Diamond— Opens Season Sunday.

The Glasco baseball nine will open the baseball season Sunday, May 15, at their new field on the Flatbush road with the East Kingston nine. Manager Dobkins had the squad out for practice Monday and is well satisfied with the showing the Glascos made. It was a pleasure to watch the snappy playing of the infielders. Teams that have played on the old diamond will be happily surprised when they see the new field. As the Glasco nine has gone to considerable expense in order to have a good playing field, Dobkins will book only uniformed teams that can give the home team a fast battle.

ST. REMY.

St. Remy, May 12.—The Rev. J. Millett of Peura Bush was the guest of M. F. Deyo and family on Wednesday evening. He called on several other friends in the village also.

Mrs. Edgar Ellsworth attended the Sunday school meeting at the Fair Street Church, Kingston, on Friday evening and gave a talk on home department work.

Mrs. Mary Lambert of New Salem returned home last week after spending the winter with friends in Michigan and Rochester, N. Y. The St. Remy Church fair will be held this year on the 17th of August.

W. Nizard and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kuge of Kingston called on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ellsworth on Sunday.

Mrs. Edgar Ellsworth had a mother's meeting at her home on Saturday afternoon and those present had a pleasant time. Her Sunday school class of girls were also present.

The Ladies' Aid Society has purchased a new carpet for the Sunday school room.

Mrs. M. Douglas and daughter, Anna, of New York city, are guests of Mrs. Kathryn Sutton.

Entertainment and Mass Meeting.

A public mass meeting and entertainment will be held under the auspices of the Young Women's Hebrew Association at the Hebrew School, Sunday evening, May 15, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Pfeiffer of New York city, a well known orator, will speak and Cantor Kaplanowitz of New York city will render several vocal solos.

At First Dutch Sunday.

The Rev. Owen H. L. Mason, D. D., of New York city, will occupy the pulpit of the First Reformed Church Sunday morning and evening. In the evening he will take for his topic, "Every Man's Call," the address to be a lecture on the Russian revolutionary experiments.

TRIED PERSUASION ON MOTHER ONCE

Official Action Guided By Hearsay—Defeat In Former Proceeding Did Not Influence County Agent.

Official action for the commitment of the three daughters of John Cole to Letchworth Village on the ground that they are mentally deficient was delayed until the time for taking it had almost expired in order to give opportunity for persuading the parents to consent to having their children sent away, but no persuasion was attempted because Miss Martha Davis, county agent for dependent children, did not think there was the slightest hope of obtaining their consent after having had one talk with the mother, prior to the "mental tests" by "experts," based on questions prepared by "eminent psychologists" for determining people's "mental age."

Miss Davis denied that a former defeat in proceedings to have another older daughter, sent to an institution, in which proceeding she had been defeated in the county court by Judge Joseph M. Fowler, caused her to have the present proceedings delayed, or that such defeat caused her to have the present proceedings instituted before Judge Hasbrouck in the supreme court.

The hearing in the proceeding, which Superintendent of Schools Myron J. Michael testified he had instituted at the request of Miss Davis, was resumed at supreme court chambers Thursday before Referee Edgar E. Oughthorpe.

Miss Anne A. Heaney, attendance officer for the city schools, was the first witness called by Miss Davis. She testified that when she began taking the school census a year ago she found the children were not attending school. During last fall they were irregular in attendance. Later she found the oldest daughter who is 16 years old, employed by a family on Park street, but she informed that family and also the girls' parents that the law permitted her to work only after school hours and on Saturdays. In December the parents and children had been summoned before City Judge Schirck and the parents had agreed to send the children to school regularly. Since that time they had been regular in attendance.

Psychology And Law Different.

Miss Heaney was asked to describe the home as she found it and said it was "dirty." This answer was not allowed to stand in the record because it was a characterization which the law does not allow, and the witness was told she must tell what she saw, which she did. Court procedure in this respect is the opposite of the requirements of eminent psychologists who frame the questions on which a person's mental deficiency is determined, as appeared from the examination of Dr. Henry Van Hovenberg, school physician, on Tuesday. In his examination it was disclosed that when the Cole children told what they saw in a picture which was shown to them, their answer was wrong because they should have said the picture was "A Dutch Room."

At the time of Miss Heaney's visit to the Cole home last December, she said, she found the mother suffering with a broken arm and unable to work. The parents had lived up to their agreement made last December to send the girls to school regularly.

Principal Coons An Expert.

Principal Franklin P. Coons of School No. 7 testified that first along there had been trouble in having the girls attend school regularly. Then there was some trouble at home—somebody was sick—and they had been kept out. Since the parents had been before Judge Schirck their attendance had been good. He had noticed sometimes that their hair was uncombed and that their dresses were not clean. In regard to their dresses, he said he did not wish to qualify as an expert because he did not know what they could afford. Their school work, he said, was not good. Irregularity of attendance had a large influence on progress. He did not know whether the girls ever had attended school before, but if they had not they would not have been in the grades they had attended school before coming to Kingston. He would not have known anything when coming here, irregularity of attendance does not affect capacity for learning, he said, in his own opinion he was an expert in mental deficiency in a degree.

Conditions During Sickness.

Mrs. Myron J. Michael testified that she visited the Cole home last June, having heard there was a sick baby there. She found conditions unsanitary. The baby was sick, there were flies in the house, dishes and food on the table and the floors were unclean. The flies were the worst condition although the baby was covered with a mosquito net. She said the mother was not clean. Again last fall she visited the home when the mother had a broken arm. She had not seen there lately. One side of the conditions mentioned, she saw no reason for finding the girls physically in such conditions as to require them to be sent away from home.

No Complaint In Four Months.

Miss Gertrude Becker, school nurse, testified she had visited the home twice, the first time about a year ago. She had not been there in six months. On the two occasions she found conditions unclean and unsanitary, dirty dishes left on the table, the table piled with

DIVORCE GRANTED MRS. CARVER

Carver, in Jail, Awaits Trial on Indictment For Bigamy in Marrying Kingston Girl.

A final decree of divorce has been granted plaintiff in the action brought by Cecelia R. Carver against Walter C. Carver, by Supreme Court Justice Nichols. The defendant has been in jail for some time awaiting trial under an indictment charging him with bigamy. Carver married a young woman named Clare of this city, although being married to the plaintiff in the aforementioned divorce action since brought. The plaintiff is given the custody of John F. Carver, the issue of the parties. Chris Carver is attorney for plaintiff. At the hearing on January 26 defendant was represented by Palmer Canfield, Jr., but no evidence was given on behalf of defendant at the special term.

food and the house in disorder. The family, she said, were poor, but they could keep flies out of the house by using screens. There had been no cause for complaint in their physical condition in the last four months.

Miss Davis Fears Dangers.

Miss Martha Davis, county agent, said she had not intended to be a witness, but she was sworn and was cross-examined by Francis C. Merritt, who appeared for Mr. and Mrs. Cole and their three daughters. She said she had waited so long a time from the time of the mental examination of the girls until the present proceeding was started. Hoping to be able to show the parents that it would be better to have the girls in an institution. She had one talk with the mother, during the day of the physical examination and the mental examination. These examinations took place respectively on March 14 and 18. She sent two of the girls to get their sister, but she did not tell them or their parents that the examination was to be made. There were other mentally defective children in the city schools but she was not seeking to have any other sent away. These girls had been singled out because of their dirty home surroundings, they were in the lowest grades at school and because of their sex and age they might be in danger in the community.

Former Defeat Had No Influence.

Miss Davis said the fact that another application she had made to send away another daughter, who is not living at home, had been denied by County Judge Fowler had no influence in starting the proceedings to have these three girls sent away. She did not have that proceeding had not been started until after the county court had defeated her other proceeding, and the information regarding the "mental tests" of these three girls was then in her possession.

Efforts At "Persuasion."

She had waited to bring this proceeding until after she met defeat in county court, she said, because until she brought the present proceeding in the supreme court she had "hoped to be able to solve the situation without proceedings in court."

"How could you persuade these parents to send their daughters away when you went to their home only once?" she was asked.

"I have persuaded others so easily," she said.

Since the "mental examination" on which this proceeding was based, she had not talked with the mother. She explained she had not talked with her again "because she did not think there was the slightest hope." The sixty-day limit for the proceeding expires on the coming Sunday. Two other applications to send children away had been granted on her application, but in those cases the orders for the children to appear before the court had not been returnable before the court "quite so soon."

Didn't Remind Them Of Poverty.

Miss Davis said the papers had been served on the girls last Friday evening by a stenographer from her office and were returnable Saturday morning. She had instructed the stenographer to read the papers aloud and tell the girls they must be in court. She denied having told the stenographer to tell the girls they need not come to court because they were "too poor to hire a lawyer." She did not know the stenographer had told them so. Miss Davis said she had not visited the home of the Cole family in a number of months, although she said she visited there three or four times. She said she had seen the children and from what people had told her, her system as to visiting homes varied entirely according to the individuals. She had sufficient knowledge from the statements of other people and thought the situation so strange that further personal visits were not necessary.

If physical conditions at home were "sufficiently bad," she could see no reason from that standpoint for making this application. "From full knowledge of the situation and past history," if an improved situation should continue and the parents showed they were "able to guard the girls against any danger," she might consider the matter of withdrawing the application.

Mrs. Michael and Miss Davis were invited to visit the Cole home during the noon recess and to report what they found.

In the afternoon proceedings were again for three months, as stated by Mrs. Thomas on Thursday.

LEAGUE DOES NOT SELL DIRTY MILK

County President Flatly Contradicts Statement by Mr. Kaufman and Cites Rule of Board of Health That Should Have Been Observed.

In an account of the proceedings of the regular monthly meeting of the Kingston board of health, appearing in The Freeman of May 11, headed "Dirty Milk is Brought to This City," appears the statement that Commissioner Kaufman claimed that the dairy could not refuse the milk as long as it was allowed to enter the city or the Dairyman's League would shut off their supply from other farms. It hardly seems possible that Mr. Kaufman could have made a statement of that character, for it is one thing the league insists on from its members it is that their milk shall be of the highest quality. And where the league operates a creamery selling fluid milk, besides the regular city board of health inspection it makes a barn and herd inspection of its own at regular intervals. No such position as set forth by Mr. Kaufman has ever been assumed by the league or by any of its officers.

The quality of milk coming into the city of Kingston is governed entirely by the board of health regulations of the city and the league will cooperate with the board in every way to make it better, and it never has nor never will attempt to force any dealer to take impure milk by shutting off his other supply.

Regulation 3 of Chapter 3 of the State Sanitary Code printed on the back of blanks furnished by the board of health of the city of Kingston to the city dealers to report changes in the source or amount of supply of milk received by them from farmers is as follows:

Extract of the State Sanitary Code.

Regulation 3. Information required in application for permit. Every application for a permit to sell at retail milk or cream in any municipality shall contain the name of each producer from whom the applicant receives or expects to receive milk or cream for sale, together with the approximate amount of milk or cream to be furnished by each such producer, and upon change in the source or amount of supply, notice thereof shall be given promptly to the local health officer.

A violation of the above regulation is made a misdemeanor by Regulation 2, of Chapter 1, of the above mentioned code.

And yet this milk that so much fault is found with just now has been coming into the city of Kingston since the first day of last December without previous inspection.

SAUGERTIES NOT CHAMPIONS Series For County Title Didn't Decide Title Says Colonial 5 Fan.

Editor, The Freeman:

The Saugerties A. C. by virtue of two victories over the Colonial Big Five within the last week lay claim to the championship of the county. Being an ardent fan and fair minded and voicing the opinions of a large number of local fans I think this claim is a little premature. My contention is that not either the Saugerties A. C. or the Colonials can claim any championship, for on the record of games for the season the Saugerties A. C. have won two, and the Colonials have won two. Now for the sake of finding out who's the champion, let the clubs get together quickly and play the deciding game. Then we will have no dispute over this matter. This I think is possible for from the game I witnessed Wednesday evening both clubs played hard clean basketball and the players were good sportsmen. Let's hear from the management of the two teams.

BARAGWANATH CONTRIBUTES

Article On Peruvian Metals On Which He Is Authority.

The Engineering and Mining Journal, in its latest issue, has as the principal contribution an article on "The Vanadiferous Asphalites of Central Peru," by John G. Baragwanath. The author is the son of the pastor of the St. James Church in this city. He is a graduate of Columbia University, being now a consulting mining engineer with offices in New York. He spent several years in South America, and is probably the best authority in America on the metals of Peru, as he was the prosecuting counsel of the Corro de Pano Company. In this way he became acquainted with the outstanding places in that Republic, climbing the Andes to the height of over eighteen thousand feet, and coming in touch with the native peoples of the interior, and the fauna and flora of the country.

ASTALOS FOILED "BUNCO STEERERS"

Flatbush Farmer Proves No "Come On" and Two Vendors of Machine to Grind Out New Greenbacks are Principals at Surprise Party and Later Lodged in Jail.

Frank Bauman and Anton Pearlman, two New York crooks, were captured in a sensational manner Thursday afternoon while they were in the act of trying to separate Sam Astalos, a well known Hungarian farmer living at Flatbush, from $6,000 in exchange for a machine which they claimed would convert ordinary bond paper into $10,000 worth of money which he could pass anywhere without danger of the bills being detected as not genuine.

The two crooks underestimated the intelligence and honesty of Mr. Astalos from the beginning of their operations, as he informed the officials promptly of their proposal and aided in securing police officers in his house in order to effect their capture. The two crooks evidently overestimated their own intelligence. They are not believed, however, to be the principals in the game they attempted to work, on an Ulster county farmer, as a third man is known positively to have been with them in Kingston and possibly a fourth. They claim they did not make the machine but that they bought it.

Machine Merely a Noise Maker.

The machine by which the two crooks intended to victimize somebody is about two feet long, a little over a foot wide and about six inches in height, enclosed in a dark rose-colored box ornamented by small nickel or silver-plated hinges, screws and bolts. The cover is attached to the main part of the box by hinges and turns half-way back but cannot be removed except by loosening the hinges. The interior evidently consists principally of one or more storage batteries and several varieties of buzzers.

A flat board extends part way across the box slightly below the top and the contraption is supplied with a small motor, switches and other paraphernalia—gauze bag, small electric lights, a thermometer, buzzers, wheels, batteries and a telegraph key.

In one compartment the crooks would place the real money and paper, after dampening them and sewing the gauze tight with silk thread, and the gauze bag in the other compartment was supposed to contain the manufactured money after the buzzing had ceased and the crooks had finished pounding with the telegraph key.

Some time ago Mr. Astalos was approached by Bauman and Pearlman, who are Austrian Jews. The two crooks told Mr. Astalos they had come from a western city and were detectives in search of a man who had run away with $47,000.

On Monday evening of this week, however, the two crooks brought Mr. Astalos to their rooms in a local boarding house and admitted that their talk of being officers in search of a western absconder was fake talk and that what they really wanted was to put up to him a business proposition whereby he could make some money. They produced the machine described above, and putting in a few genuine bills they started the machine.

The motors buzzed with different sounds as the switches were turned, the red and white lights flashed on, one of the crooks pounded with the telegraph sending key and finally the little compartment at the bottom was opened and from the gauze bag the crooks took bright and clean bills.

Mr. Astalos was told he could have the machine for $6,000 and that he could make $10,000 worth of money with it which could not be detected from genuine money issued by the government.

Mr. Astalos did not tell the two crooks what he thought of them, but he listened to their proposition quietly and showed interest in what he had seen and what he was being told. He promptly got in communication with the police.

Chief Wood, Sheriff Kolts, Under-Sheriff Haulbeck, Night Jailor Joseph, Detective William Cohen, Sergeants Hanley and Plimner, and Policemen Latort and went to the Astalos home early Thursday afternoon and secured themselves about the house.

The crooks arrived at the house in a taxicab and began the demonstration when Mr. Astalos came a loud cough which was the signal agreed on to summon the officers, who appeared promptly. They covered the two crooks with their guns and then handcuffed them. They were brought to jail and will be arraigned later.

While the capture was being made in the house, word was brought to the officers that two other men had been seen near the farm, but no trace of them could be found. It is known that the two crooks had been accompanied by a companion during their stay in Kingston, and it is probable that two others also were here.

After being brought to jail, the crooks gave their names as Frank Bauman of 515 East Eighty-fifth Street, New York city, and Anton Pearlman of 642 East Ninth Street, New York city. They went to jail to members of their family, and a woman claiming to be Mrs. Pearlman arrived at the jail early this morning from New York. She conferred with Pearlman.

An investigation is being made to determine whether the crooks have criminal records elsewhere.

Several Lodging Places Here.

While in Kingston the two crooks had several lodging places which are already known to the police. Thursday

PERSHING NAMED CHIEF OF STAFF

Will Succeed General March July 1 and Will Have Harbord, Close Associate Overseas, as Assistant.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, May 13.—General John J. Pershing will assume authority over all the military forces of the United States second only to that of the president on July 1 next, it was officially announced today. The announcement ended the uncertainty that has existed for some months as to what the future duties of the commander of the American Expeditionary Forces would be.

General Pershing will succeed General Peyton C. March as chief of staff. He will have as his executive assistant Major General James G. Harbord, one of the younger general officers of the army who was one of his chief lieutenants in the administration of the A. E. F. in France.

all were willing to pay more than the amount asked. They were undoubtedly in their behavior in the houses where they rented rooms and gave no indication of their business.

In attempting a sample of this kind crooks generally have the cooperation of some local resident who is acquainted with local residents and their financial status and it is not unlikely that the person who advised the crooks that Mr. Astalos would be a good subject for them will be located promptly.

This afternoon both men were arraigned before Judge Schirck in police court on a charge of attempting to commit the crime of grand larceny in the first degree, and an adjournment was taken to Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Judge Schirck fixed bail at $2,000 each.

It was understood that they would furnish, Comparative Criminal W. D. Brinnier, St., appeared for both men.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

While Love May Be Blind a Bliff on the Nose Opened His Eyes—Here with is Also Related the Tale of Friday the Thirteenth, and Thirteen Eggs, Eggactly.

"I have often heard that marriage was a fight, but believe me she wants too darn many rehearsals," sighed the sad-eyed stranger as he rubbed a damaged optic feelingly.

"What's the trouble?" asked the man he met in the corridor.

"Trouble enough," said the stranger with another mournful sigh, "here I have been keeping company with a young lady for fully a week, and spending several dollars on her in taking her to shows and giving her ice cream sodas, and now I want to know how I can get rid of her."

"Get rid of her?" ejaculated the one he met, "what do you mean by that?"

"Well you see," explained the mournful one, "I got myself engaged to her, and now I want to break the engagement. Before I went and got engaged my friends warned me that marriage was more often than not a hot old fight, but I did not believe them until my lady friend got mad at me cause I didn't think of taking her some candy last night when we went to a movie and she biffed a broom over my noddie."

"I read somewhere that love was blind, but believe me when you get a bliff on the nose it soon opens your eyes," continued the mournful one, "and lately it has got to be one darn scrap after the other. I don't mind a fight, if marriage is one, but believe me I draw the line on a whole lot of rehearsals before the deed is did."

"Well what are you doing at the hall?" asked the other as the stranger paused in his narrative.

"I kinder thought maybe I could get some relief here and advice as to how I could break the engagement," explained the mournful one.

"Well you came to the right place," replied the other, "but you will have to wait awhile until the judge gets here."

"What time does he get here?" asked the mournful stranger.

When the information was given him he scratched his head thoughtfully, and said, "well I guess I will meander on for I got a job I got to do, but I'll come back later."

The mournful one had scarcely left the city hall when there entered another stranger walking briskly, but with a preoccupied look on his face. He was a man of medium height, and well dressed, and like the mournful one he wore an optic that looked as though some one or something had "shingled" on it.

"I want to see the judge," he said as he accosted the first one he met.

"He entered the building," replied the accosted one, "you will have to wait a few minutes or the judge is not here yet, but I'll get here shortly."

"What I want to see him about," said the man with the damaged optic, "is how to get some satisfaction."

"In what way?" queried the other.

"I have just spaded up my garden," explained the man with the d. c. "and the other day I sowed my seed and set out some tomato plants. I thought I was going to have some luck this season but I did not know my neighbor was going in for chicken raising."

"Anyway," he continued, "I had no sooner got my garden the way I wanted it when my neighbor's new chickens got in the habit of strolling into my yard and what they did to my garden had better be left unsaid."

"As I may have said I had only recently moved in this neighborhood and I had never been introduced to my neighbor, and of course I never speak to any one unless I am introduced, and so I was up a tree as I did not know how to get word to him to keep his chickens home."

"Then I decided on a fine scheme and yesterday I got thirteen nice fresh eggs, and last night I hid them in my yard, and early this morning I went out and made sure that he would see me gathering up the eggs, and, thinking that they were laid by his wandering hens, would keep them home."

"That's not so bad an idea at that," commented the accosted one.

"Huh," grunted the man with the d. c., "I forgot that this was Friday, the thirteenth, and that I hid thirteen eggs in the garden."

"What's that got to with it?" asked the other.

"That's what I want to see the judge about," explained the man with the d. c., "for when I gathered up the eggs the neighbor came over and demanded them and when I refused he handed me this," and he pointed to his eye.

SAMSONVILLE.

Samsonville, May 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Myers and Myron and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Berier, attended the funeral of Mrs. Ernest Bishop at Olive Bridge on Saturday.

The Misses Esther and Maude Shurtler called on the Myers family on Sunday evening.

Miss Mildred Docker, who has been spending a week with Isabel Van Buren and other friends here, returned to her school duties at Marlborough.

Charles Kimble and family of Marlborough, Dutchess county, were in this place on Sunday, visiting Mrs. Kimble's sister, Mrs. Fred Haver, who is improving from her recent illness.

Mrs. Minnie Barringer of Kingston is at her home in this place for a time.

James Shurtler is preparing to leave this place soon for a position in Kingston.

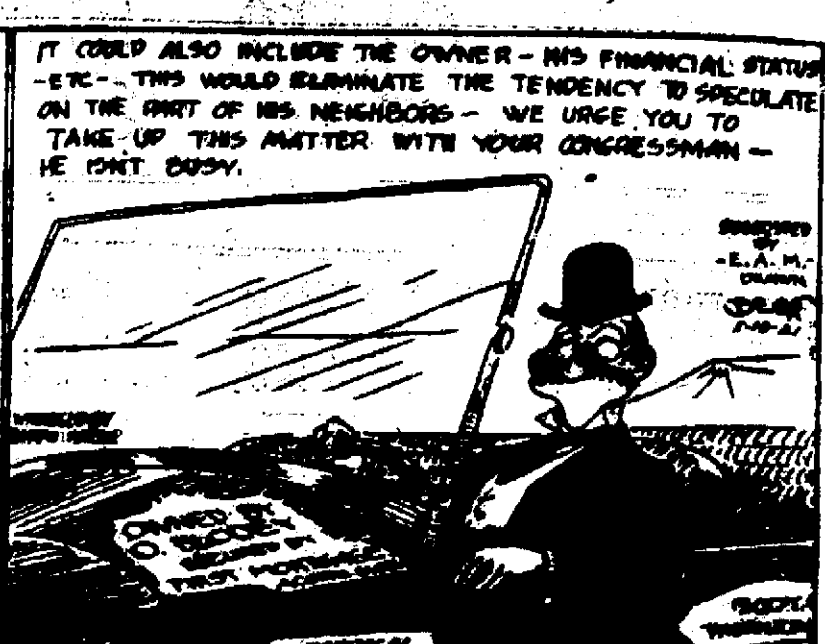

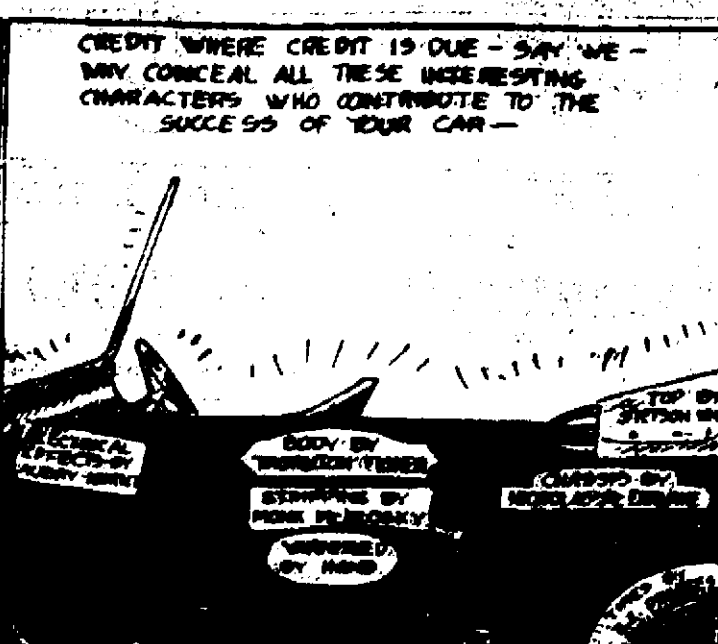

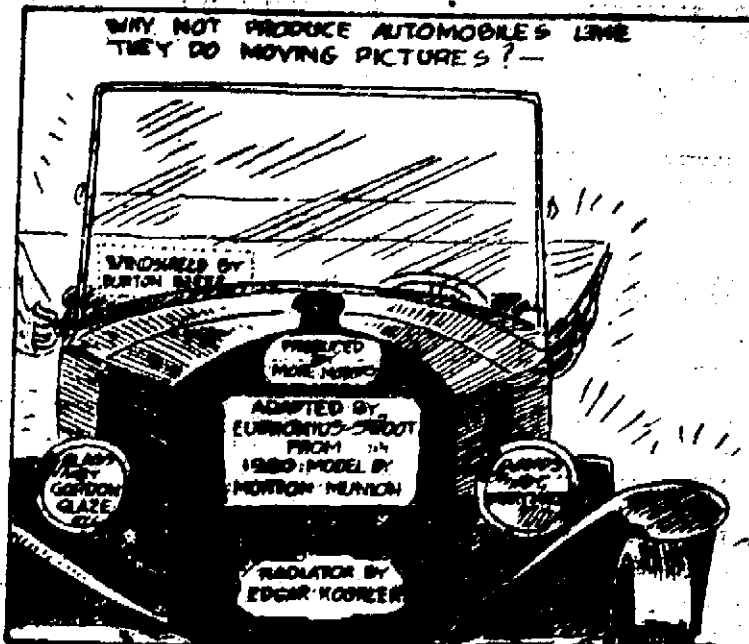

The Myers and Beriers were entertained on Friday evening by Mrs. H. G. Davis of Wiscasset District.

Albert Every and wife of Monticary are guests of Mrs. Every's sister, Mrs. Ann Barringer.

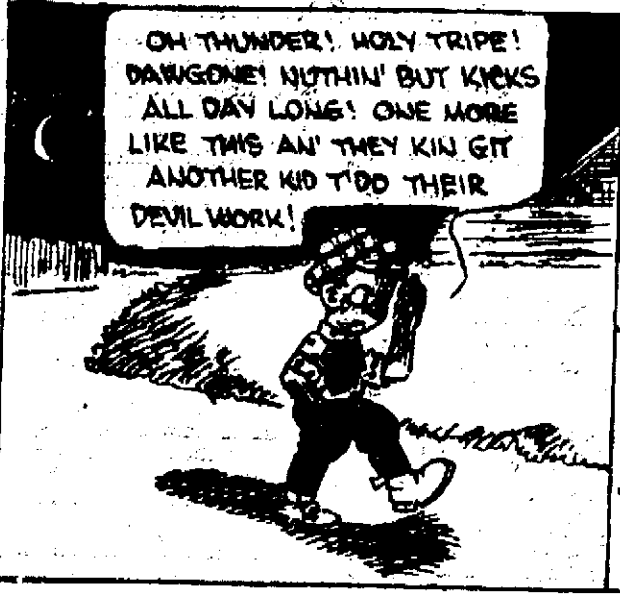

Virgil Shurtler is drawing readings to Marlborough.

TEA-DINNER GOWN

Garment Many Women Have Wished For but Never Found.

Outfit Has Made Most Favorable Impression Because of Becomingness, Smartness and Comfort.

A new dress creation comes to us from New York—the "tea-dinner gown." Just the garment which many a woman has wished for and has never found. A new firm of costumers solved the problem and put such a gown on the market.

The "tea-dinner gown" has made a great hit because of its smartness, becomingness and great comfort—the three requisites every well-dressed woman demands. The "tea-dinner gown" is true to name. It is worn for tea in one's own home and is kept on for dinner, if dinner is an informal affair. The American woman will be quick to appreciate this advantage, for at one time or another every woman has had an awkward rush to change from an afternoon to dinner dress. Be not alarmed by the name. The gown absolutely has no resemblance to the old-fashioned "tea gown" (husbands will not think you in negligee), where lace and ribbons were fluttering adornments. Effect in the new gown is by color, wonderful combinations of color, line and materials.

There are three types of "tea-dinner gowns." One of all chiffon georgette, the handsome velvet severely plain, and the combination of a velvet coat worn over a chiffon slip, fashioned very much on straight lines. A gown which has been greatly admired was Chinese red chiffon with a coat of jade-green chiffon velvet, lined with

CHIC LACE AND NET BLOUSE

This exquisite blouse of lace and net is of the type which should appeal to milady who appreciates the value and importance of a supply of such dainty wearing apparel.

THE VOGUE FOR FILET LACE

Italian Product in Demand—May Very Easily Be Imitated by Use of Heavy Thread.

The day when every woman who liked to do needlework had a sheet of colored silks in her workstand is gone. Colored embroidery of some sort is, of course, still done. However, there are other kinds of needlework that are more in vogue.

One is filet lace. It is interesting to contemplate the length of time that filet lace has been in high fashion, both for the adornment of woman and the adornment of her home. The fashion does not dwindle, rather increases.

Just now there is a particular vogue for the heavy Italian filet lace. This may very easily be imitated, simply by using very heavy thread. This lace forms scarfs for the table. Done in deep cream thread, with a long knotted fringe at the ends, a scarf of this lace is effective on the living-room table. Done in white thread or a light cream it forms a beautiful covering for a luncheon table. Remember, though, to have the thread of a very heavy quality, for therein lies the distinction of this particular sort of lace. Old English eyelet work is also in vogue. The kind that one does with a shuttle. It should be done on very fine linen, sheer and soft. This is used for neckwear especially.

Then there are the various fine crocheted edges that are used on so many of the luncheon and tea napkins. Not a scallop or a lace, but a little picot edge, worked on from a strong linen. Embroidered bath towels, with big initials worked in a diamond-shaped frame, are still considered quite smart, and their working is a pleasure, because of their softness.

LINEN—THE SUMMER FABRIC

Coarse Material in Vivid Colors Will Be Popular for the Grayish Seaside Days.

No matter how much we may enjoy the snows and sports and formalities of winter in town or country, there is one preoccupation of that season which is a perennial joy—the selection of our early summer clothes, says Harper's Bazar.

The serges and silks and chiffons, which for many years have usurped the place of the cottons and linens and ginghams, are on Dame Fashion's blue list for the season of 1921, but while on it they do not fill it. Warm weather will see a blossoming forth of heavy linen, airy batiste and soft clinging cottons in the liveliest of colors.

Perfect for grayish seaside days are straight frocks of coarse linen in vivid colors, banded with leather or embroidered in heavy silk. Most appropriate for a warm day in town are gowns of a new fabric called cotton chiffon, which may be knitted or accented, played with delightful effect.

At tea-time on an swanlike veranda snowy batiste with all-over design in eyelet embroidery is a sight to refresh eyes which are jaded by the glare of a June sun on a blazing tennis court, while for a lawn fête the most perfect confection is a frock of filmy mill made with a jaunty rash and tablier and showing innumerable rows of infinitely fine tuckings. A mere thread of valencienne edging may outline the frills which adorn this exquisite type of frock.

Dainty Lavender Bags

Lavender bags are dainty trinkets very easy to make out of "nothing." Any old scrap of silk or ribbon suffices for the bag itself. A fragment of narrow ribbon, or even a twist of bright-colored creased silk, ties it up, and a few coats' worth of lavender fills several bags. A tiny touch of embroidery on the bag doesn't take time, and lends a certain personal distinction to an accessory which most girls welcome.

Lingerie Blouses

Many fine lingerie blouses are designed with long sheer sleeves. Some of these sleeves are edged with lace, others are hand-embroidered, still others have plain edges, but are trimmed with inserts of lace applied with embroidery stitches and motifs. Most of these blouses are worn on blouses of white and batiste that are supplied with wrist-length sleeves.

Kongo Diamonds

There are diamond fields in the Belgian Congo which in 1919 produced 200,000 carats, and it is estimated that the field will yield about this quantity annually in the future.

Tailleur of Black Velvet, Showing New Loose Coat in Vogue This Season.

the chiffon—a combination of colors marvelously becoming and effective and a delightfully comfortable garment.

Some of the lovely gowns in chiffon would suggest to one a Maxfield Parrish picture, with its color, brilliant yet soft and harmonious—while the "tea-dinner gown," which makes the older woman look dignified or the younger woman entrancing, is one designed in black chiffon velvet with long straight lines and no trimming.

THE CHIC 1921 SPRING SUIT

Nothing Staid or Dignified About Clothes for Season in Advance of Warmer Days.

There is nothing staid or dignified about the 1921 spring suit. A gay and fetching little affair is its jacket, falling only a few inches below the waistline and opening in front to reveal a bright-lined vest. Most of these little jackets have loose three-quarter sleeves and many models are collarless. They are decidedly feminine in style and resemble not at all the mannish, buttoned-up coat with long tight sleeves that accompanies what is known as "a plain tailored suit."

Far from plain is the spring tailor. Embroidery, buttons, buckles, and even tassels make it a captivating affair—if you prefer feminine effects in tailored clothes. If your fancy is for sterner, more masculine tailored wear, you must confine yourself to a sport suit this season. Sport suits hold to highly effective, to collars with lapels, to Norfolk ties, pocket squares and plain sweaters; but all tailored models intended for more formal wear are gay as any can be.

Draperies

A good title to achieve harmonious window draperies is to use plain materials with plain walls. This plan prevents a room from appearing over-decorated or a jumble of colors.

Another Reason for Smiling

"It requires," says a scientist, "sixty-five wrinkles of the face to make a frown and only thirty-three to make a smile." Conserve your energy—Smile.

Unlucky Doctor

The Chinese have a strange sense of humor. This joke, told by a writer in the "Open Court," will bring a smile to almost any face: There was a doctor who understood no little of his profession that every now and then he killed one of his patients. He had a son and a daughter. One day he had sent the son of a family to the other world, and since the family was much distressed he gave them his own son in compensation. Subsequently he had the misfortune to die, and the daughter of another couple and was obliged to give them his own daughter to make good the loss. He was now alone with his wife. They were feeling lonely and miserable one evening, when again some one knocked at the door and asked for the doctor. He went out himself and found the man who it was that needed him. The man said that it was his wife. "The poor fellow went back into his room and, checking doors, said to his wife: 'I see it coming. There must be somebody who has cast an eye on you.'"

Louis Philippe and Wife. Louis Philippe (1774-1850) was the eldest son of Duke Louis of Orléans. He engaged the French revolution.

This Old Earth

Abbe Theodore Moreaux, director of the observatory of Bourges, in an article in La Revue de l'Église, declares the world to be five hundred million years old, instead of fifty million, the opinion of other astronomers. Abbe Moreaux also thinks that man existed for tens of thousands of years instead of six thousand based on figures in the Bible. He says the belief of German scientists that human beings have existed for four hundred thousand years is too high to set. The Bible's six thousand years are an exaggeration of the truth.

etion, but was suspected of aiming at the crown and was compelled to leave France in 1793. He did not return until after the fall of Napoleon in 1815, having spent the intervening time in Austria, America and Great Britain. After the revolution of 1830 and the abdication of Charles X, he was elected "king of the French by the grace of God and the will of the people." He held this office until 1848, when another revolution occurred, and he retired to England, where he and his wife resided as "Mr. and Mrs. Smith," settled in Claremont, placed at their disposal by Queen Victoria, under the income of Count and Countess of Neully. Louis Philippe died at Claremont August 26, 1850.

Music and Morals

Take the art of music. Great music even merely good music which has melody and harmony in it, does around us like a stream of pure, clear water, or like the billows of a great sea, it refreshes and it strengthens, but cannot make us vicious, because it is music. If it can be called music at all, it is music, and it is music that is the art of music. It is, for example, I think, was mentioned by him for the treatment of lunatics. True, it does not contain any distinct moral teaching, because music is not a didactic art, but it does contain a real moral influence, because it refreshes, invigorates, and fortifies the mind through the ears. It is, in effect, the drug or knockout drop in the art of music—Dr. Henry Van Dyke.

THE LITTLE ROCK EXAMPLE.
 It has been often and truthfully remarked that organized labor is in no danger of injury at the hands of its enemies, but it is a fact that the Little Rock, Arkansas, action of the revolt of the plumbers of that city against restrictions placed upon industry by radical labor leaders. Little Rock, like almost every other city, was suffering from a shortage of houses and other buildings. The plumbers, among others, had established rates of pay and hours of labor and other regulations which the employers in particular and the citizens of the city in general were willing to recognize. Agreements had been made with employers which were to extend until June, 1920. Construction contracts were based upon that understanding. Notwithstanding this, the plumbers demanded an increased rate of pay eight months before the old schedule would expire and also undertook to establish a time schedule on construction jobs. For example, in the case of a small cottage which was to be supplied with hot and cold water, with live openings, the labor union leaders specified that a certain number of days should be taken to do the work. The same principle was applied in the construction of all kinds of buildings where plumbing was to be done. An examination of the new schedule convinced the employing plumbers that it would mean an increased labor cost of approximately 100 per cent which, of course, would eventually be paid by those who invested their money in the construction of homes, stores, office buildings, etc. One of the means by which the labor union leaders would enforce their rules was to require that whenever a plumber went out on a job with a blue print he was to go to the headquarters of the union and have the blue print examined and the time specified thereon which the man must take to do the job. All this was restriction of production—a limitation on efficiency—a needless increase in costs. The employing plumbers refused to stand for it, with the result that the plumbers struck and the whole issue was submitted to a public meeting held under the auspices of the Board of Commerce. Practically all of the business men took the side of the employing plumbers and declared for an "open shop" plan throughout the city with the result that, according to reports, more than 92 per cent of all the construction work in the city is now done under the "open shop."

These facts present a very clear demonstration of injury to a cause by its supposed friends. The people of Little Rock and of every other city are desirous of paying liberal wages and maintaining satisfactory working conditions. They are willing to pay all that is necessary in order to have work done efficiently. They believe in paying wages commensurate with the work performed—a fair day's pay for a fair day's work—but at a time when there was a scarcity of houses and when high rents contributed very materially to the high cost of living, they could not countenance regulations which were manifestly intended to diminish production.

As often remarked, organizations of capital have in the past suffered as a result of the unwise policies of some of their leaders. Laboring men will do well to profit not only by the experiences of organized capital but by some of the recent experiences such as that in Little Rock where organized labor was injured by its own leaders.

THE OSTRICH METHOD.
 After bombarding the Denver Post with criticisms of the "ostrich method" appearing in its columns, the Rev. W. H. Wray Boyle was invited by the authorities of that newspaper to edit it for one day according to his own ideas of propriety. The published account shows that the reverend reformer, who promptly accepted the offer, editorially expressed his views of the propriety of journalism. "Killed" the crime news, cut out the divorce cases, and eliminated all reference to boxing in the sport devoted to sports. The result greatly pleased him and his friends and the Post lost nothing, the paper successfully competing with rivals that day as usual. What it would have lost in a week or a month of Mr. Boyle's editing is another and an untold story, for obviously there could be no real test in a single day.

A newspaper adopting Mr. Boyle's plan would lose money and might even go under, but this is not the most important question involved from society's viewpoint. The ostrich method would please evil doers even more than Mr. Boyle and his friends. Lawbreakers would be only too glad for both the courts and the newspapers to adopt it, as the most promising means of making the world a paradise for themselves and an extremely uncomfortable place for good citizens. "The world," pointedly remarks the New York Times, "is a place in which many things happen that pain all people who are good or trying to be good. Some of them think they think that all its naughtiness should be passed over by the press in silence, but they don't think so half as sincerely as do the perpetrators of the naughtiness, for they would be delighted indeed to escape publicity—and condemnation and punishment therewith."

 2. What elm has bunches of burrs or cones on the ends of the branches?
 3. Do birds have memory?

 Answers to Previous Questions
 1. Why is the woodbine called Virginia creeper?
 Both woodbine and Virginia creeper are local names for Pseuderis quinquefolia or Parthenocissus quinquefolia. The woodbine name is from an old word meaning a vine that binds around, or clings to a wood, or a tree. This vine is common in the wild state on low rich ground, and doubtless acquired Virginia from being seen in a given locality. It has five leaflets, as the Latin name indicates.

2. What circumstance caused the bat to develop wings?
 This is one of the numerous cases in nature where nobody knows "why." The bat is a mammal, and the bones of its wings correspond to the bones of the fore-limbs of other mammals. For reasons impossible to guess the creature adopted arboreal life and was provided by nature with a membrane to aid its style of locomotion. In a general way, the wing is like the membrane of the flying squirrel, but the powers of flight are much better developed.

3. After birds have arrived south from the north, do they have young during the northern winter?
 No, they do not have a double breeding season. The impulse for migrating northward is supposed to be connected somehow with the breeding impulse, leading birds thousands of miles from their winter homes—where food supply continues abundant—to northern climates, to nest and rear the young. Of course, species belonging south of the equator have their breeding time there.

him and his friends and the Post lost nothing, the paper successfully competing with rivals that day as usual. What it would have lost in a week or a month of Mr. Boyle's editing is another and an untold story, for obviously there could be no real test in a single day.

A newspaper adopting Mr. Boyle's plan would lose money and might even go under, but this is not the most important question involved from society's viewpoint. The ostrich method would please evil doers even more than Mr. Boyle and his friends. Lawbreakers would be only too glad for both the courts and the newspapers to adopt it, as the most promising means of making the world a paradise for themselves and an extremely uncomfortable place for good citizens. "The world," pointedly remarks the New York Times, "is a place in which many things happen that pain all people who are good or trying to be good. Some of them think they think that all its naughtiness should be passed over by the press in silence, but they don't think so half as sincerely as do the perpetrators of the naughtiness, for they would be delighted indeed to escape publicity—and condemnation and punishment therewith."

 Can You Answer These Questions?
 1. I caught a land turtle last August. It has been sleeping through the cold months. When will it wake up?
 2. What elm has bunches of burrs or cones on the ends of the branches?
 3. Do birds have memory?

 Answers to Previous Questions
 1. Why is the woodbine called Virginia creeper?
 Both woodbine and Virginia creeper are local names for Pseuderis quinquefolia or Parthenocissus quinquefolia. The woodbine name is from an old word meaning a vine that binds around, or clings to a wood, or a tree. This vine is common in the wild state on low rich ground, and doubtless acquired Virginia from being seen in a given locality. It has five leaflets, as the Latin name indicates.

2. What circumstance caused the bat to develop wings?
 This is one of the numerous cases in nature where nobody knows "why." The bat is a mammal, and the bones of its wings correspond to the bones of the fore-limbs of other mammals. For reasons impossible to guess the creature adopted arboreal life and was provided by nature with a membrane to aid its style of locomotion. In a general way, the wing is like the membrane of the flying squirrel, but the powers of flight are much better developed.

3. After birds have arrived south from the north, do they have young during the northern winter?
 No, they do not have a double breeding season. The impulse for migrating northward is supposed to be connected somehow with the breeding impulse, leading birds thousands of miles from their winter homes—where food supply continues abundant—to northern climates, to nest and rear the young. AN OPEN LETTER
 Through dark years and bright years, through the Spanish War and the World War, we have played fair to our patrons according to the rise and fall of the financial market. We put quality ahead of our prices and stand back of every yard we sell. Our close buying direct from the mills enables us to always sell for less. Our reputation of 28 years of faithful and honest dealings has enabled us to cater to the majority of Ulster, Dutchess and Orange counties. Thanking you for the past and continued confidence, and trusting to serve you in the future as ever.

Mrs. Bertie Armstrong, left, and Mrs. Margaret Gibson, who were the first women in the history of the state of Ohio to sit on a jury in a first degree murder trial. Both women, it is said, voted for a first degree murder verdict in the case of William C. Dawson, twenty-seven, who was tried several days ago in Cincinnati for the slaying of his wife. Dawson received a life sentence.

WILLOW.

Willow, May 12—The last physical education conference of the fourth supervisory district for this school year, was held at Phoenixia on May 10th. Miss Julia L. Boright of Chatham, N. Y., was in charge. Miss Boright is new to this section but made a very favorable impression upon the teachers by her tact and executive ability. The main part of the forenoon session was given up to explaining some of the new work and the details of the physical ability test.

This test is to be given in each school by the teachers themselves. The test should be given early enough to mail all reports before the 21st of May. The events for the boys are. Fifty-yard dash, standing broad jump, and chinning. The girls' events are. Fifty-yard dash, bean bag throw, and toss and catch. In the afternoon session more exercises were given and explained. After this the remainder of the work was carried on outdoors. The Fifty-yard dash was tried out by five of the young men and an average of 7.5 seconds time was reported. The other tests were also demonstrated. At the close of the conference a vote of thanks was given Miss Boright for her excellent work. Superintendent W. J. Andrews held his usual informal talk with the teachers and touched upon various things of interest to those present.

The League of Women Voters of Ulster county are making a survey of the schools of the county and it is requested that the teachers give them their courteous cooperation. Much good might be accomplished by work of this kind if done in the right spirit. What the results in this case will be, remains to be seen.

The teachers of the town of Woodstock have decided to unite in a town picnic for all the schools. This will take the place of the usual "last-day" picnic held by the individual schools. The date has been fixed for Friday, May 20. At the Shady school has an excellent playground and a beautiful grove near by, it has been decided to hold the picnic there.

A program of games will be arranged and published in Tuesday's Freeman together with the time for meeting and other necessary details.

A BROKEN ARM AND A BROKEN ARCH

There is no similarity in the actual misfortunes, of course. One is the fracture of the bone, while the other is a misalignment of the bones due primarily to ruptured ligaments. However, they do present one striking similarity. When an arm has been fractured and worn in a splint for three or four weeks, we find it is smaller—it has withered in size—it is weak. This is because the cast has made the muscles inactive and they have lost the strength.

Just so in flat feet—or broken arch. When you use a mechanical device to force a broken arch back to its normal position, you also "splint" the foot, and the muscles cannot work—and instead of getting stronger they get weaker. You would perhaps always have to wear them if you relied solely upon them for relief.

The system I use for the treatment of feet WILL restore fallen arches. No bandaging. No stopping. No loss of time. An examination costs you nothing.

A THREE-DAY TOUR FROM N. Y.

O. M. Wells, chief roadman, Automobile Club of America, writes as follows to the New York Sunday Tribune:

A comprehensive tour by automobile through the Catskill mountains covers almost too great a distance to be made in a week-end run. Three or four days can be enjoyably spent on a trip through this scenic district, but it is possible to traverse some of the most attractive country in southern New York within the limits of a week-end outing by approaching the foothills of the Catskills by way of the valleys of the Ramapo and Neversink, in Orange, Sullivan and Ulster counties.

This trip, as outlined by the bureau of tours of the Automobile Club of America, covers a distance of 263 miles, with Kingston as the night stop, and an available extension of thirty or forty miles further by including the scenic circuit of the Ashokan reservoir.

Broadway is followed north to the Harlem river at Kingsbridge and the Albany Post Road taken through Yonkers to Hastings-on-Hudson, seventeen miles out. Continuing on the Post Road, Dobbs Ferry and Irvington are passed through for Tarrytown where the Hudson is crossed by ferry to Nyack.

The route from Nyack ascends the hill, and running through West Nyack and Nanuet enters a pleasant open stretch of country as it heads west by way of Spring Valley to Suffern.

With a right turn in Suffern, the route follows a winding course through the valley of the Ramapo, via Ramapo, Slootburg, Tuxedo and Harriman and Monroe, runs amid wooded hills to Goshen. From this point magnificent views of the Huckleberry Hills and Shawangunk mountains are obtained as the route, taking a winding course through a hilly section, approaches Middletown and continues up Bloomingburg mountain.

The road surface is good macadam the whole way and magnificent scenery, the views from the section between Bloomingburg and Warburton, overlooking the valleys on both sides for miles, with the mountains in the distance, are most impressive, while the climb over Bloomingburg mountain, though steep, presents no difficulty.

After passing through a number of pretty villages, among which are Haven, Warburton and Phillipsport, the road enters Ulster county at Spring Glen and passes through Ellenville to Napanoch, 103 miles to New York, overlooking the picturesque Rondout valley. For the next ten or twelve miles the route runs through the valley as far as the vicinity of Kysenke, bearing left at that point for Stone Ridge and Marlborough, and following the course of Esopus creek through Hurley into Kingston, 127 miles from New York, and practically midway along the round tour.

The trip from Kingston round the Ashokan dam is well worth making. It entails an additional thirty-five or forty miles over roads of excellent quality. On the return portion of the tour the route leaves Kingston by Broadway, crossing the ferry and continuing south along the west side of the Hudson through Port Ewen and Hopewell to Highland, and thence through Milton and Marlborough, following the trolley to Newburgh, a run of thirty-four miles. Here the ferry across the Hudson is taken to Beacon and the picturesque Fishkill mountains are skirted as the route turns south for Annville and Peekskill, twenty miles on, and continues on the Albany Post Road through Croton, Harmon, Ossining and Scarborough to Tarrytown. From Irvington and Dobbs Ferry to Hastings and thence by Warburton avenue to Yonkers, completing a distance of 100 miles from Kingston and 321 for the whole round trip.

But That's Habit.

Because a commuter rushes from the train in a hurry, giving the impression that his time is worth about $100 an hour, it does not follow that he will not spend fifteen minutes on his way to the office watching a gang of men laying pavement.—Boston Transcript.

ASHOKAN.

Ashokan, May 12.—Mrs. Jenny Cudney and daughter, who have been visiting at her father's returned to Brooklyn Tuesday.

Seymour Winne is doing carpenter work for Mrs. Chase at her summer home.

Mrs. Anna Sedor entertained company from Kingston Sunday.

Word was received Monday of the serious illness of Mrs. Edie Conroy at her home in Brooklyn. Mrs. Conroy was formerly Miss Edie Cudney of Ashokan.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hogan, Vance Hogan and Robert Lipsburger of Kingston visited at C. Moe's Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. John Hasbrouck and friends were Ashokan callers Sunday. Miss Clara Lennox is spending some time in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vincent and daughter, Edith and Fred Spinnwebber of Port Ewen, also Mrs. Charles Stacey of Poughkeepsie spent Sunday evening with Mrs. Vincent's sister, Mrs. Julius Ryder.

Mrs. Julius Ryder and niece, Juanita spent Monday in Kingston.

A quilting was held at the home of Mrs. Lincoln Smith recently. Those present were Mrs. John Hyser, Mrs. Fred Gulan and Mrs. Amelia Morris. Thanks to their nimble fingers it was nearly finished.

There will be services at the Old Baptist Church, May 15, at 10:30 a. m. and 2 p. m., standard time. Saturday night meeting will be at Lincoln Smith's at 7:30. The annual business meeting will be held Sunday after services.

BIG INDIAN.

Big Indian, May 12.—A measuring party will be held in Bryant's Hall, Saturday night. Proceeds for parsonage fund. Every one is urged to attend.

Miss Margorie Bignor was home the first of the week to attend the teachers' conference at Poughkeepsie.

RIVER PACKET DAYS RECALLED

Attempt to Revive Mississippi
Traffic Brings Stories of
"Good Old Times."

VOYAGE PLEASANT AFFAIR

There Was Great Rivalry Between Boat Owners and Crews and Many Exciting Races Were Pulled Off—Robert E. Lee Famous.

New Orleans.—Memories of old days on the Mississippi when stately packets plied in the passenger traffic are revived by the resumption of traffic between Pittsburgh, Pa., and this city by way of the Ohio.

Barges have carried freight traffic on the great river for many years since the packets were driven out by railroad competition. In the days of Mark Twain the Mississippi packets were celebrated for their "casts," their famous races, their pilots and even for their poker games.

It used to be an uncommon sight to see from 15 to 30 passenger vessels, from the palatial packet to the weather-beaten tramp, leave the New Orleans landing daily for up-river points.

Voyages Were Pleasant.

A river voyage in the olden days was a pleasurable affair if the boilers did not blow up or the vessel hit one of the shifting sandbars, mudlumps or hidden snags. A comfortable berth, wonderful meals, dancing at night, watermelon parties, well-stocked bars, and draw poker games for the patrons of that form of amusement, and last but not least, the antics of the negro roustabouts, all combined to make things pleasant for the traveler.

Saturday was usually the sailing day for up-river packets from this port. There was great rivalry between boat owners and crews, and usually from one to a dozen boat races were pulled off as the vessels chugged up the river. It was then that boilers blew up with marked frequency.

The most famous of these races was run by the Natchez and the Robert E. Lee two of the largest of the river packets. So keen was the rivalry that early in the seventies it was planned to have them race from New Orleans to St. Louis. No passengers or freight were carried and for weeks the coming race was the chief topic of conversation along the river.

The Robert E. Lee was in command of Captain Cannon, while Captain Leathers was master of the Natchez. No stops were made except for fuel. The trip to St. Louis was made in just a few hours over three days, an unheard of record then, with the Robert E. Lee the winner by a small margin.

Promoters Are Curious.

Promoters now are figuring whether human nature has changed from the olden days, whether a person will be content to idle the time away on long trips which he could make in a fraction of the time by rail; whether they "have time" to take quiet pleasure.

Freight rates, interstate commerce commission hearings, uniform bills of lading and other prosaic commercial matters figure in the traffic side of the question. The passenger business is regarded as a gamble.

INDIANS MEND SKULLS

Prehistoric Medicine Men of South America Were Skillful.

Scraped the Bone With Knives of Stone or Obsidian and Covered Hole With Gourd.

New York.—Prehistoric Indians of South America had crude medicine men who removed splinters of arrowheads and stone bludgeons from wounded warriors by cutting through the skull with knives of stone or obsidian and other simple instruments wrought from copper and bronze. Sometimes the patient lived; frequently he went to the happy hunting grounds.

These uncomfortable treatments of serious casualties from tribal skirmishes still continue in remote areas of Bolivia. Evidence of this has been gathered by field workers from the American Museum of Natural History. Of nearly 1,200 skulls collected in South America by the late Dr. Adolph Bandelier for exhibition in the museum, about 5 per cent has been operated upon. To surgeons the practice is known as trephining. It consists of removing a disk or button of bone from the skull with a saw called a trephine.

Complex fracture of the skull with depression of the bony plates must have been common occurrences during the ancient tribal wars when clubs headed with stone and copper along with slings, the "bola" and the "thru" were offensive weapons, said the reports of the museum's investigators.

A natural procedure, they opined, with victims who survived skull fractures must have been attempts to remove the splinters of bone that pricked the brain, or to cut out fragments pressing upon it.

Warlike clans fight intermittently even today in the wilds of Bolivia and skull fractures are common. Other heads are perforated now and then in the bacchanals and festivals whopped up occasionally with great quantities of intoxicants, the investigators reported.

When the laughter and the free-for-all quiet down, the medicine men get out their sharp pocket knives and make incisions into the injured skulls of the sufferers, frequently covering the aperture with gourd. During the operation they scrape around the wound with a chisel.

Modern anesthetics are unknown to the medicine men. They put their patient into insensibility by constant use of the "roca" plant. This also is employed for healing purposes and is commonly applied to wounds, bruises and contusions.

Not Too Exact.

We are not punctilious about the scenery in the movies, just so Caesar is not shown leaning against a telephone pole.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Ancient Crown Preserved.

The old crown of the Lombards is still preserved in the Church of St. John the Baptist at Monza. It is made of six pieces and adorned with 22 jewels, 26 golden roses and 24 emeralds. It was brought from Palestine by the Empress Helena, and given by Pope Gregory I to the Lombard prince, Theodelinda. The crown was used in crowning the Lombard kings and the German emperors as kings of Italy. Napoleon used it at Milan in 1805, and the Emperor Ferdinand I in 1838. It was carried off by the Austrians in 1850, but restored to Monza in 1968.

ONE CENT A WORD ADVS. BRING RESULTS

TRACES TB. TO BAD TEETH

Dr. Thomas J. Ryan, noted dental scientist and writer on dental topics, declares in his latest book, "Teeth and Health," that he has traced tuberculosis to decayed teeth and foul mouths. His experiments also show that Bright's disease and epilepsy can be the result of infected teeth. Doctor Ryan urges the establishment of municipal dental X-ray clinics to check these perils.

Taking Precautions.

Cambridge, O.—"Don't Shoot! We Are Not Bootleggers." This is the sign showing on many automobiles as a result of the recent shooting of Thomas McNamee, Barnesville, O., who was wounded in city officials when his car was pursued in the belief that it contained whisky.

Operation Failed to Cure Boy of Mania for Thievery

Surgery last night in Boston, Mass., on a little boy named John, six weeks ago an operation was ordered for a foot amputation. The boy had a mania for small thievery. The operation was attended by a score of important physicians and was declared a success. However, the lad is in no way better and a $10 watch which he earlier purchased for his mother is still missing.

Sidewalk Perils

Statistics show that more people are killed and injured by tripping, slipping and falling than from any other sort of traffic. Another argument against the persistence of the habit of carrying packages and boxes on a sidewalk.

BRIDE IN DANCE OF DEATH

Young Lady Entertains Friends as Poison She Had Taken
Ends Her Life.

Kalamazoo, Mich.—While the poison she had swallowed slowly drove life from her body, Mrs. Neva Fraser, eighteen, a bride of a few weeks, performed a veritable dance of death in the midst of a party of guests.

She walked over to the phonograph and started playing "Till We Meet Again," explaining it was the piece played at the dance at which she met her husband.

Her friends were ignorant of the tragedy taking place when she began dancing, but before the last strains died away they saw her fall in a crumpled heap.

Death sealed her lips before she could explain her motive.

MANY GERMANS QUIT BATHING

Find Hot Water a Luxury Because of the Shortage in Supply of Coal.

Berlin.—The hot bath has become such a luxury in Germany, owing to the shortage of coal and the manner in which the government regulates the distribution of fuel, that many Germans have ceased bathing. Others have gathered courage for an icy plunge daily, but this is not popular. The houses are generally cold, and exposure to cold rooms after a chilly "soak" leaves the way for colds and rheumatism.

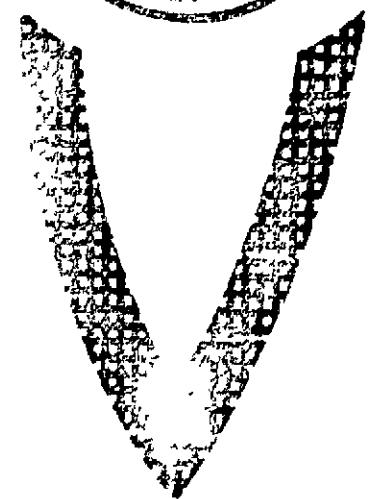

Occasionally a family can afford hot water once every two weeks. Public baths where one can sponge or a hot tub available for a few pennies, have been found in some of the cities, leaving the rest of the workers and salaried workers.

Broke in on the Stealing.

HOW TO REDUCE VARICOSE VEINS

Many people have become dependent on the use of the leg band, but to believe that this is the only way to cure varicose veins is a mistake. The leg band is only a temporary measure and does not cure the disease. The only way to cure varicose veins is by the use of the "Vein Extractor" which is a small, hand-operated instrument which is used to remove the diseased veins. The "Vein Extractor" is a small, hand-operated instrument which is used to remove the diseased veins. THE OFFICE CAT

By Junius

Another Slice of The Old Ham.

(Vincennes Ind. Commercial)
A thirteen pound son was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Hamm. The mother was Mary B. Friend. The father is a well known meat cutter and has a smile that takes as he hands out the cigars. Mother and babe are doing fine.

It won't do you much good to take a "memory course" if you haven't any mind and if you have you don't need a "memory course."

In the spring the average man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of loosing.

The neighbors chickens are heartily in favor of open gardens openly arrived at.

If a grocer sells you a dozen eggs and two of em are bad you can take em back and get good eggs in their stead. If a department store sells you an umbrella that splits the first time you open it the loss will be made good promptly. If a shoe dealer sells you a pair of shoes that rip open the first time you put them on you may have your money back for the asking. If the goods do not come up to the specifications back they go and this is as it should be.

But if a girl marries a young man who doesn't come up to specifications she's stung. He may have told her that he had a house and lot, money that was in the bank, a good salary and no bad habits, and he may turn out to have been a wall eyed liar on each and every count. It makes no difference she can't return him to his folks and demand her youth back.

Many a girl has married what appeared to be a nice upstanding youth a good stock model, so to speak, and finds too late that he was a confirmed coughdrop chewer, or that he wore hand-embroidered suspenders or played a piccolo. Her only resource is the expense and annoyance of the divorce courts. And every marriage license should read, in plain type, something like this: It is understood and agreed that if the said husband aforesaid named in this here document should prove a flivver, a glass crash and a false alarm, not to say a lemon and a whiz, the wife aforesaid has the right to kick him out the back door with the rest of the rubbish.

You can't make 'em believe it, but dishwasher will make the hands just as soft as these patent creams.

A New Alibi.

Since that Hammon (Ind.) man was robbed of $2,600 while praying in church it will be harder than ever to induce the menfolk to go to church. Incidentally his name was Cash.

The editor of the Weekly Hicough who was cited for contempt of court by Squire McSpadden, a while back informs in scribe he was responsible for the piece of question. His wife who helps him get out the paper, don't like the squire's wife he says, and when she set the type for the McSpadden piece she let her feelings get the best of her. Since he never reads the Hicough himself he says he didn't know anything about it till his attention was called to same a few days ago.

Since haircuts has went up to 50c a copy, many of our citizens are thinking of taking up fiddling.

Why will a phonograph salesman call around at your house and try to sell you a talking machine when he knows darn well you're married and have got a parrot?

Miss Lillian de Richeleu and her father, Admiral Andrew de Richeleu, who recently arrived in New York from Europe, will tour the country. The admiral, who owns his title to Siam instead of Denmark, was born in the Danish Antilles, and married Eleanor Douglas Wise, of Baltimore. He founded the Siamese navy.

LAKE KATRINE.

Lake Katrine, May 12.—Preaching services will be omitted on Sunday, May 15, on account of the Rev. Steketee's vacation. Service again on the evening of May 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sanford very pleasantly entertained a small company Saturday evening in honor of their son, George's birthday. Music and games were enjoyed by everyone and also a delicious buffet supper prepared by the hostess. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and son of Sauterles, Walter and Miss Elsie Woerner, Carl and Miss Marie Courson; the Misses Edna and Alice Shoemaker, Miss Marian Middleton, George Gilson, A. B. Law and Warren Schmidt of Mt. Marlon, Mr. and Mrs. William of Lake Katrine. Mr. Sanford, Jr., is very popular with the young people and has recently been elected assistant superintendent of the Sunday school. All joined in wishing him many happy birthdays.

The Efficiency Club held their regular meeting at the home of Miss Harriet Ten Broeck last Friday evening.

Mrs. Hugh Ferguson is visiting her sisters, Mrs. George Cook and Mrs. Thomas Lochend, of New York city.

Miss Anna Snyder spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Harry Davis and Miss Christina Fonda of Flatbush.

Theodore Brink spent Sunday with his sisters in New York city.

Raymond Dumond is spending a few days with his father at Ulster Landing.

Mrs. Anna Hoyt and Miss Ida Shaw of Port Jervis were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shaw Sunday.

The lecturer's hour at the next regular meeting of the Grange, on Monday, May 16, will be devoted to a discussion of "The Rural School Bill." A. Bogart, Mrs. David Kleffer and Mrs. Frank Brink are the committee in charge.

A meeting is called of the Home Department members at the home of Mrs. G. Parish on Thursday evening to arrange for the package social to be held at the hall Wednesday, May 18. Anyone wishing to donate a package is asked to send same to their respective visitors, Mrs. Joel Brink, Mrs. J. Thompson, Mrs. Anna Snyder and Miss C. Burhans. A cafeteria supper will be served from 6 o'clock on. Music will be furnished by a Columbia grafonola in charge of Lewis Shaw of Kingston.

Miss Sarah Cook, who has lately returned from Los Angeles, Cal., is stopping with her brother, John Cook, Sangerles Road.

The Mothers' Day service was given with an appropriate program by the members of the Sunday school on Sunday. The opening hymn, "Love, Divine," was followed by Scripture reading by David Kleffer and prayer by D. B. Hendricks of Kingston.

Origin of Mothers' Day, read by Mrs. T. Brink.

Exercise—Mothers of Men.

Recitation—"The Love in Mother's Heart," by Natalie Hooker.

Recitation—"Mother," by Roger Keough.

Hymn—"Rock of Ages."

Recitation—"The Rose of Motherhood," by Alma Cook.

Exercise—Our Offerings.

Primary Class.

Recitation—"The Dearest Mother," by June Hooker.

Recitation—"Before, It is Too Late," by Marquerite Fredericks.

The address was given by Miss Elsie Pulz, of the Albany Avenue Church, Kingston. This was a good practical talk to both mothers and children.

The offering for the China famine fund was $7.50, which was very good, considering the size of the school.

Miss Lena Henninger spent the day with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henninger, of Sauterles.

ALLIANCEVILLE.

Allienville, May 12.—Jacob L. Steen has a new Ford automobile.

John Hendrickson, Sr., is spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Case at Wadsworth, Conn.

L. D. Forbes and Fred Rose are visiting M. David Farrell's residence.

Edwin Cook has gone to Mohonk. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hines were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brooks on Sunday.

Miss Mary Pegraw and Mrs. L. J. Haines called on Miss Mary Schoenmaker on Tuesday afternoon.

Kills Pesky Bed Bugs P. D. Q.

Just think, a 35c box of P. D. Q. (Pesky Devil's Quin) makes a quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas, etc. and stops future generations by killing the eggs and does not injure the clothing.

Liquid free to the bedbugs is what P. D. Q. is like. Bedbugs stand as good chance as a snowball in a justly famed heat resort. Patient, spot free in every room and their eggs in the cracks.

Look for the devil's head on every box. You'll have what Hostess has found to be the best insecticide known to science. Special Hospital are paid upon receipt of price by the P. D. Q. Chemical Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Genuine P. D. Q. is never peddled.

ANNIVERSARY SALE

Saturday, May 14, it will be just one year since ISIDORE SHATTAN opened his store at 12 NORTH FRONT STREET, for the sale of MEN'S CLOTHING and GENTS' FURNISHINGS, so on that date he will inaugurate his FIRST ANNIVERSARY SALE. During the past year he has made many friends by reason of his square and honest dealing with the Kingston public. Those who have been his patrons will testify that to them he has always MADE GOOD. For this reason his stock has been growing more extensive. He began with a small stock of Clothing and Furnishings for men and boys, and since then has added a large and varied line of HATS and SHOES; also a stock of up-to-date LADIES' WEAR embracing Suits, DRESSES, OVERSKIRTS, UNDERSKIRTS, NIGHT GOWNS, CHEMISES, CHILDREN'S DRESSES and BLOOMERS.

To all of our former patrons and friends, thanks are extended for their patronage and good will and they are invited to call again, and to those who have never visited this store an invitation is given to do so and inspect the goods and to appreciate our low prices. Everyone is welcome even if no purchase is made. We guarantee our goods.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL P-T. A. OFFICERS

Are Same Ones Who Held Posts Last Year—Committee On Proposed Athletic Grounds—Next Meeting In September.

The monthly meeting of Kingston High School Parent-Teachers Association was held Wednesday evening and largely attended. After the reading and approval of minutes the secretary, Mrs. William Longyear, submitted her annual report, also Mrs. Whiston the treasurer's report which were approved. Bills for $7.70 were audited and ordered paid. Mrs. Whiston, delegate to the Poughkeepsie State Conference last month, read a very interesting and useful report of the progress made at that convention, which was heartily received.

President DeWitt announced the following committee known as the Proposed Athletic Field Committee to investigate and report cost of putting the grounds in rear of high school in proper shape for the students: J. A. McCommons, chairman, City Engineer Codwise, Superintendent of Streets Van Kuren and William C. DeWitt. It is the desire of many citizens and students that the grounds be improved and that the Parent-Teachers' Association raise the nucleus of a fund to be used for that purpose, the money to be raised by private subscription and through entertainments so that the cost does not become a burden to the taxpayers.

Election of officers was next held. President DeWitt vacating the chair and Superintendent Michael acting as chairman. The nominating committee through Mrs. Irving Scott presented the same officers as last year, stating that there was important work to be carried through to conclusion, now only partly completed, and it was thought advisable to nominate as follows:

William C. DeWitt, president; Miss Marguerite Corder, first vice-president; J. A. McCommons, second vice-president; Mrs. Whiston, treasurer; Mrs. Longyear, secretary.

On motion the secretary was instructed to cast a ballot in favor of the above. Motion was seconded and carried unanimously. Messrs. Service and Mack were named a committee to escort Mr. DeWitt to the chair. President DeWitt and the other newly elected officials present accepted with brief remarks.

Mrs. Anderson called attention to the approaching Mothers' Congress at Rochester in October and the need of funds to pay expenses of a delegation. It was decided to hold a tea in September at the high school assisted by the high school girls to raise funds.

Mr. DeWitt then introduced the speaker of the evening, George H. Mosser of the U. S. Treasury Department, who spoke most entertainingly and effectively on "Giving the Boy and Girl the Right Chance to Succeed."

After a rising vote of thanks to the speaker the association adjourned until the second Wednesday in September.

Saturday, May 14th.

We will sell one pound to any one customer, ye old fashioned whipped cream chocolate candies at 35 cents pound box. Ten Broeck's Drug Store, 322 Wall street, Kingston.

RELIANCE QUALITY KEEPS PLANT BUSY

The superior qualities of the Reliance crusher manufactured by the Universal Road Machinery Company are shown by the orders which are received daily by the local concern.

This week orders were received for a 9x16 portable crusher and bin from Center Township, Columbia county, Pa.; a 12x24 outfit for a contracting firm at Portland, Me.; a 10x18 outfit for a contractor at Farrell, Va., and a street sweeper for the city of Louisville, Kentucky.

The six crushing outfits ordered recently for the state highway department of Pennsylvania will be shipped soon.

The Universal plant is now running to its full capacity.

LEIBHARDT.

Leibhardt, May 12.—Mrs. J. C. Snyder and granddaughter, Miss Gladys Carter, spent Tuesday afternoon with friends at Mettalahonts.

Mrs. Agnes Brown has purchased a team of work horses of McDowell of Ellenville.

Peter Barnhart is visiting with friends and relatives in Montgomery and Walden this week.

Wilson Krom who has been spending some time with Walter Van Gasbeck at Rochester Center left on Tuesday and will have employment at Spillway.

Mrs. Jane Quick has moved in with her sister, Mrs. Hendrickson.

Abie Hendrickson has employment at Virgil Shurtler's heading mill at Samsonville.

The Leibhardt people are watching for the date of the social and entertainment at Mettalahonts.

Asa Hornbeck of Lake Mohonk spent Saturday and Sunday at home, returning to Mohonk Sunday afternoon.

The Misses Ethel and Luella Hornbeck and Miss Meriam Brown will leave for Lake Minnewauka early in June for the summer season.

School will close the last of May after a very successful term. This will make two years that Miss Irene Booth has been our teacher and has given entire satisfaction and we all hope she will teach again another year as she is well liked by parents and pupils.

Mrs. Eliza C. DeWitt entertained Mrs. L. E. Lawrence, Miss Edna Hornbeck and Mrs. Alex Brown on Thursday afternoon. The ladies spent the afternoon quilting a nice quilt for Mrs. DeWitt.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Brown and Mrs. J. E. Lawrence were in Kingston last Friday.

Preaching services will be held at Tabasco next Tuesday evening, May 17, by the Rev. Mr. Thompson.

Mrs. William Hornbeck entertained a number of friends at her home Sunday evening.

Edwin C. Chase of Oliveira was in town on Monday calling on friends and renewing old acquaintances. We were all pleased to see Mr. Chase as he was a former school teacher in place fourteen years ago and this his first visit to this place in ten years.

He was a guest for dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hornbeck. He made the trip by automobile.

The Misses Carol Brown, Minnie Brown, Lulu DeWitt, Gerald Quick, Norman and Jacob DeWitt and George Gray enjoyed a day's outing at Sam's Point in the Shawangunk mountains Sunday, May 8. The trip was made by auto and the young people enjoyed the day by sailing on Lake Maritzana and visiting many principal points of interest at that summer resort. A fine lunch was enjoyed.

PLUTARCH.

Plutarch, May 12.—The Rev. Granville Kerr preached a very interesting sermon on Sunday and the choir rendered appropriate singing. Miss Lizzie Elliott recited, "The Mothers' Day." The Ladies' Aid Society furnished carnations for the decorations. At the close of the service each mother and the girls of the Sunday school received a carnation and some were sent to the sick.

Commencing with next Sunday preaching will be at two o'clock and Sunday school at three o'clock, so that the minister can get back to Kingston in time for evening service. All remember the change in time.

Horace Elliott and family attended the Dairymen's League picnic at Wallkill on Saturday last.

Mrs. Oscar DeGraft was a visitor in Kingston on Thursday last.

Miss Sophie Picken of New York and Henry Picken and family of Kingston spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Warnock, they also attended church service here. They formerly resided here and all were glad to greet them again.

Mrs. Albert Rose of Highland and Mrs. Harry Alverson of Lloyd visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ezekiel Alverson on Sunday and attended church service here.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McCormick and family visited with Mr. and Mrs. John Janson and family and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie McCormick at New Falls on Sunday.

A Helpful Hair Hint

Here is good news for anyone whose hair is faded, dry, streaked and scraggly—is falling out badly, and whose scalp is covered with dandruff and itchy like mad.

You druggist can now supply you with the genuine Parisian Sage which is guaranteed to quickly and safely banish every sign of disgusting dandruff, stop itching scalp and falling hair and stimulate a new growth, or money refunded.

TEACH KIDS HOW TO SWIM, PLAY

4,000 Centers Keep Boys Out of Mischief and Help Them to "Keep Fit"

WONDERFUL RESULTS SEEN

Summer Activities on Playgrounds Eliminate Swearing, Cheating and Stealing Among Children—Fair Play Prevails.

New York.—More than 4,000 playgrounds and recreational centers in the United States are helping to keep boys out of mischief, teaching girls swimming and other athletics and showing adults how to benefit themselves physically and mentally by play.

The effect they have in keeping boys out of trouble with the police is emphasized in reports which have come to the Playground and Recreation association from all over the country as one of the most important results of the establishment of playgrounds in cities. These facts are given in the year book of the association just made public.

The chief of police of San Francisco believes the establishment of neighborhood recreation centers is a constructive measure toward suppressing the crime wave. He asked the community service to extend its recreation work because he believed that the wrong use of leisure time had much to do with the increase in crime.

Cure for "Bad" Boys. Granville Lee, supervisor of the Portland (Me.) recreation commission, says that bad boys behave themselves better during the playground season and also that there are fewer street accidents to children because of playgrounds.

The playground directors of Bay City, Mich., have discovered that summer activities on the playgrounds have practically eliminated all swearing, cheating and stealing among the children. They note with satisfaction that the spirit of fair play has helped to put the playground bully where he belongs and boast of an appreciable falling off of delinquents.

Cases are reported where mothers have been amazed to note that their children did not catch cold, although they played in the snow; that the youngsters have gained in weight and appetite. In one case a father forbade his daughter to play because it made her eat too much.

One thousand children were taught to swim in one week at Tacoma, Wash., and it is estimated that 500, the majority of them girls, have learned to swim at Seattle.

Pageant in Snowstorm. Pageants, plays and community singing have been fostered throughout the country in the last year, with good results. One pageant was given at Kalamazoo, Mich., in a snowstorm, but it was attended by several thousands, and the scenes were much enhanced by the snowy setting.

Community singing in factories has been helpful in establishing friendships among the employees, and between them and their employers, and in lessening the popularity of crap shooting.

Many different organizations are promoting this work, with the result that a 42 per cent gain is reported for last year.

OFFERS HER BABY FOR $500

Oklahoma City Woman Disappears After Her "Ad" Is Rejected in Newspaper Office.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Efforts to find the woman who entered the office of a daily newspaper here and asked the boy at a telephone switchboard if she could insert an advertisement to sell her sixteen-month-old child for $500 have been unraveling. Reporters and police officers said.

The boy refused the advertisement, he said, fearing that it would be against the policy of the paper to accept it.

Her advertisement application, which he saved, read:

"Wanted—To sell a 16-month-old baby in good health; mother unable to support baby and needing money; $500."

"He's the finest baby in the world, but I can't afford to keep him," the boy says the woman told him.

EGG REACHES RIPE AGE OF 61

Perfectly Respectable, Too, Because It's Hand Decorated and Hard Boiled.

Cleveland, O.—An egg's age is usually carefully concealed.

Many of ancient vintages emerge from cold storage and masquerade as freshly laid hen fruit, but as a general thing their advancing years are no more to be boasted of than those of a woman.

Not so with an egg in the possession of Fred R. Gerd, 2054 Franklin avenue, Lakewood. It's sixty-one years old and perfectly respectable. It's a hand-decorated Easter egg with the date "April 9, 1860" inscribed in white on a reddish-brown background. It is hard boiled and is kept in Mr. Gerd's carefully wrapped in cotton to protect it from breakage.

Witty Smile.

The last speaker of a Joke program at a recent banquet said: "My speech will be like modern style in women's dress—long enough to cover the subject and short enough to be interesting."

Improved Roads

MUCH MONEY FOR IMPROVING

Over $400,000,000 Expended on Rural Roads and Bridges During Calendar Year of 1919.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

During the calendar year 1919, 49 States of the Union expended over $400,000,000 on their rural roads and bridges; the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture recently announced. This total is made up of the actual cash expenditures for such items as labor, materials, supervision and administration, amounting to $389,455,981, and convict labor and statute labor, the value of which, not definitely known, is estimated at about $132,000,000. So far as possible, all expenditures on city streets within incorporated towns and cities and all items of sinking-fund payments or the redemption and interest payments on road and bridge bonds have been excluded.

The road and bridge expenditures for 1919 show an increase of approximately 53.13 per cent over those of 1918 and 70 per cent over those of 1917. More striking, however, is the increase in the proportion of the total funds supervised by the several state highway departments. In 1918 the expenditures by or under the supervision of the state highway departments amounted to $117,285,268, while the local road funds, over which they exercised no control whatever, amounted to $168,812,925. In 1919, however, the state highway departments supervised the expenditure of $209,232,694 as against the total of $189,163,237 expended by the local road and bridge authorities.

TREES BEAUTIFY OUR ROADS

Enthusiasm Displayed All Over Country in Campaign for "Roads of Remembrance."

Motor travelers all over the country have stimulated a contagious interest in planting trees by the roadsides. The Federation of Women's Clubs, which was one of the first national organizations to assist in this work, has planted many trees along sections of the Lincoln highway, writes Victoria Faber Stevenson in Sinclair's Magazine. Today it is beautifying many roads by planting trees in memory of the men who served in the World War. In fact, enthusiasm for roadside tree planting is evident all over the country in the widespread interest which is taken in "Roads of Remembrance."

Patriotic and civic organizations, women's clubs and boy scouts' units are providing miles of roadway with young oaks and elms. These sturdy trees, which will perpetuate the memory of the men who took up arms for America are also giving the roads beauty and individuality.

Perhaps the most unique work of this character which is reported by the American Forestry association is being done in Georgia around the city of Macon. There the woman's auxiliary of the chamber of commerce is planting a huge cross of trees in honor of the men and women who went to war from their vicinity.

NUT TREES ALONG HIGHWAYS

Michigan Is First State to Offer Reward for Beautifying Its Improved Roadways.

Michigan is the first state to offer a reward for planting nut trees beside highways. In Europe the profit from roadside nut trees assists in maintaining roads. Roadside nut trees abroad are protected from vandalism by public sentiment, and this is true of the nut orchards in the principal centers of production in this country.

Much Money for Roads.

Great Britain is expending $140,000,000 a year on highways.

Improve by Drugging.

Frequent drugging of a dirt road with the King mation, not only maintains the proper moisture necessary for drainage, but develops a hard, self-sealing wearing surface and a firm base, with the result that the road constantly improves instead of deteriorating.

Fines for Overloading.

Fines ranging from $25 to $100 are imposed on offenders who drive overloaded motorcars on highways in Pennsylvania.

Where Doublets Are Bred.

SEES CLOTHING AS BLESSING

Writer of Opinion That Some of World's "Big" Men Do Well in Covering Themselves.

Wherever one goes in Polynesia one is reminded, by contrast, of the one physically to men of our own race at our sheltered way of living, under James Norman Hall, in Harper's Magazine.

There on every hand are men well past middle life, with compact, symmetrical bodies and the natural grace of healthy children. One sees them carrying immense burdens without exertion, swimming in the open sea for an hour or two at a time while wearing fish, being ashore with no greater apparent effort for yet longer periods.

Sometimes, when they have it, they eat enormous quantities of food at one sitting, and at others, under necessity, as sparingly as so many dyspeptics. It would be impossible to formulate from their example any rules for rational living in more civilized communities. The daily quest for food under primitive conditions keeps them alert and sound of body, so that, whether they work or loaf, sweat or fast, they own always to acquire health by it.

I thought of the strange appearance certain of the chief men in America or France or England would make under similar circumstances, deprived of the kindly concealment of clothing. What a revelation it would be of skin-ness or pudginess! What an exhibition of scrawny necks, fat stomachs, flat chests, fatty arms!

To be strictly accurate, I had seen some fat stomachs among elderly Pantheonians, but they were exceptions, and always remarkable for that reason. And those who carried them had sturdy legs. They did not give one the uneasy feeling, common at home, at the sight of the great paunches of sedentary men tottering unsteadily along a strip of crimson carpet, from curb to curb doorway.

HOARDER CHASTISED IN 1777

"Coffee Party," Composed of Boston Women, Confronted His Goods, According to Old Letter.

"Females" of ye old Boston, staging a "coffee party" in 1777 which resulted in a small way the famous "Tea Party" in 1773, personally chastised a profiteer hoarder of foodstuffs and confiscated some of his stock, according to a letter from Abigail Adams to her distinguished husband, later second President of the United States.

Writing at Boston, under date of July 31, 1777, Abigail wrote to John, then standing the Continental Congress at Philadelphia:

It is rumored that an eminent stinky merchant, who is a bachelor, had a hoard of coffee in his store, which he refused to sell under six shillings per pound.

"A number of females, some say a hundred, some say more, assembled with a cart and trunk, marched down to the warehouse and demanded the keys."

"Upon his finding no quarter, he delivered the keys, and they then opened the warehouse, heaved out the coffee themselves, put it into a trunk and threw it off. A large concourse of men stood around, silent spectators of the whole transaction."

Extraordinary Time Keeping.

Methods of reckoning time have always been a source of trouble to scientists. The first standard was the lunar month—that is, the period of about 29 1/2 days between one new moon and the next. Twelve of these months seemed to correspond to the four seasons, and so the year was fixed at 354 days. They soon found that they were getting badly misled, that the seasons did not correspond to the months in the course of 10 years they were more than three months wrong. The Jews and Greeks stuck in another month now and then. They added seven months in 10 years and managed to keep a clumsy track of time.

FREE HERE, HELD FOR NEWBURGH

James Lyons, the man arrested in this city Sunday morning in connection with the theft of an automobile which he and another man, the latter making a successful getaway, had deserted at Sloughborough, was taken to Port Ewen this morning by Sheriff Kolts and Under-Sheriff Hantenbeck for a second hearing before Police Justice McKenzie on a charge of grand larceny and burglary preferred against him by Percy Mott of Esopus.

As there was not sufficient evidence to connect Lyons with another man who was at Mott's place and burglarized his safe, the charge was dismissed. Lyons was immediately arrested on a warrant obtained by Otis Tubbs of Newburgh by Sheriff Kolts, the charge being grand larceny in stealing the auto of Mr. Tubbs, being the one deserted on the Port Ewen hill at Sloughborough on Sunday morning. An officer is expected to come to the Ulster county jail and take him to the Orange county jail.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb of 171 Main street, will move his offices to 188 Fair street on May 15.

Saturday, May 14, at 12:30 o'clock, a food sale will be held at the store of E. S. Craft and Son, 230 Wall street. Proceeds for the benefit of the Young Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and the Queen Esther Society of Clinton Avenue M. E. Church.

An old fashioned entertainment entitled, "The Rag Sociable," will be given in the lecture room of the Fair Street Reformed Church, Friday evening, May 20, at 8 o'clock. A good time is assured all those who attend. Refreshments will be served after the performance.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Rebecca, widow of the late Levi Snyder, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Singer, Partition street, Saugerties, in her 88th year. Funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Standard time, at the High Woods Church. Burial in Mt. Marion cemetery.

Mrs. Henry Koehler died at her home at 30 Johnson avenue, Newark, N. J., this morning. Besides her husband she is survived by four daughters, Mrs. E. Metzger of this city, Mrs. Nettie E. Gude of Summit, N. J., Mrs. Christen Keys and Miss Lydia Koehler of Newark. The funeral will probably be held Sunday.

The body of Mrs. Mary Hennegan, who died in New York city on Tuesday, May 10, was brought to Saugerties on the West Shore Railroad Wednesday evening and taken to the home of her nephew, Daniel Doran on Partition street. The funeral was held in St. Mary's Church this morning. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

The funeral of John Halblieb of Ruby was largely attended. Floral tributes were many. He was one of the most respected citizens in the community. Requiem high Mass was celebrated at St. Wendelin's Church at 9 a. m. by the Rev. George J. Vach, who paid a glowing tribute to his Christian character. Interment in St. Peter's cemetery, where the communal prayers were offered by Father Vach.

Patrick R. Carey, for many years a respected resident of this city, died this morning at his home, No. 48 Lindsley avenue. The funeral arrangements will be announced later. Mr. Carey is survived by four sons, Harry J. of New York, the Rev. Emanuel Carey, C. P. of Boston, Justin F. and Francis J. Carey, both of New York city and three daughters, Madeline and Marguerite at home, and Helen A. Carey of New York.

Millbrook Plays Here Tomorrow.

The Kingston High School baseball team will play the Millbrook Memorial High School team at the Athletic Field, Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. After a week of hard practicing, they are in condition to win. The local team has defeated Newburgh and Poughkeepsie and are determined to win Saturday's game.

DIED.

CAREY.—In this city, Friday morning, May 13, 1921, Patrick R. Carey, at his home, No. 48 Lindsley avenue. Funeral arrangements later.

Snyder.—Rebecca Snyder, 88 years of age, widow of the late Levi Snyder, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Singer, on Partition street, Saugerties. Funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock (standard time), at the High Woods Church. Burial in Mt. Marion cemetery.

VAN VLIET.—At Rhinebeck, N. Y., May 12, 1921, Mina S. wife of Levi Van Vliet, formerly of St. Henry. Funeral Sunday at 2 p. m., last night service time, from the St. Henry Reformed Church. Relatives and friends invited. Interment at St. Henry.

Prospect Street Transfer.
Sylvester Weeks and Laura Weeks his wife have conveyed by deed premises on the easterly side of Prospect street near Van Dusen street, to Ernest R. Wirth and Carrie Wirth.

The Cord of Death.
An extraordinary method is employed for hanging criminals in the San Quentin penitentiary, California. No photographs have ever been taken of the death chamber, but this is what takes place. Three guards hide behind a screen near the gallows. They are employed to cut the cord which releases the trap door for the execution. In order that none of the men will know who cut the fatal strand, three cords are stretched across a table. All of these are cut at the same time, so that there is no way of knowing which one actually released the trap.

New Material for Silk.
Discovery has been made of a process by which the muscular tissue of horses and cattle can be converted into silk—a use being thus found for condemned cows and horses killed because of accident or old age. The flesh is softened by saturating it in a liquid, which separates the muscle fibers by dissolving the substance that holds them together. Then it is soaked in a solution which strengthens the fibers and gives them a silky character. Silk thus obtained can be rubberized and made waterproof by soaking it for some hours in a bath of rubber.

Labor on the Farm.
"Mechanical improvements have done a lot of labor saving for us agriculturists," observed St. Simian. "They have that," agreed Farmer (continuing). "There's no end to the work and worry we've been spared since they invented self-starters for our automobiles."

Not Their Fault, Either.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, May 13.—The stock market generally showed a steeper tone with the beginning of business this morning. Many issues opened unchanged and during the first 15 minutes a number of stocks moved up but a sagging tendency prevailed in a majority of issues. Southern Railway was disturbed in its market position by the unfavorable statement published yesterday and by postponement of dividend action on the preferred stock, yielding 1 1/2 to 20 1/2. Reading dropped 3/4 to 70 3/4, and fractional losses were sustained in the railroad list generally. California Petroleum was a strong feature moving up one point to 49. Mexican Petroleum opened with a gain of 1 1/2 at 148 1/2, and then dropped to 145 1/4. American Sulphate declined 1/4 to 60 1/4. There was little movement in the steel industries.

There was a pronounced change in market conditions after the first 15 minutes, buying orders coming into many stocks on a large scale. It was reported some developments are in the air indicating much easier money next week.

Several weak spots were forced into prominence in the afternoon, but the general list was fairly well held. Although it reacted from the highest figures of the day it did not show any special weakness.

The market closed unsettled; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds irregular.

The foot walk from which the cables will be woven, was completed between the piers of the Rondout creek bridge today.

The "Ads" of Old.
Advertising is not a new art by any means. Advertisements of a kind approaching our modern ideas were in vogue in ancient Egypt, Greece and Rome. These, however, were mostly descriptions of runaway slaves, offers of reward for lost property, and so on. The people of Pompeii went much further. On the excavated walls of the buried city have been found announcements of gladiatorial shows, with rough pictures of favorite gladiators, etc., that must be taken as a helpmate of the modern picture poster.

Ties of Pearls.
Mother of pearl ties, for bathrobes or other decorative use, are the new invention of Albert and Caesar Vulliamont, of Philadelphia. The shells of pearl mussels are crushed to powder and mixed with just enough cement to render the material plastic. It is then molded into ties or slates, and the surface is ground and polished for a pretty finish.

VERA BELF WANTED
WANTED Woman for light general housework in small family of eight. Good $100 month. Address "Billings" 1400 New York office, Kingston, N. Y.

Mme. Marie S. Curie, the greatest woman scientist the world has ever produced and one of the greatest scientists of the age, has arrived in New York. Mme. Curie, discoverer of radium, is here to receive from the hands of President Harding a gram of radium purchased with $100,000 supplied by Americans through a fund raised by women of this country who admired her work. The significance of the gift is better appreciated when it is known that there is but five ounces, 141 grams, of radium in the world. Mme. Curie is accompanied by her two daughters, Irene, twenty-three, and Eve, whom all France knows as "Petite," sixteen. The mother and her two daughters were escorted here by Mrs. William Brown Meloney, of New York, chairman of the Marie Curie Radium Fund.

Further Directions Needed.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

by S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

The widespread unemployment in this country today should prove a wholesome lesson in thrift.

Not so many months ago we were in the midst of the wildest extravagance. Wages were at a higher point than they had ever before reached in the history of this country. Production was at a low ebb. People were spending recklessly. Thousands of our citizens made no effort to lay by for the days of adversity.

Now those days of adversity have come to many. Thousands of men are out of work today who a year and a half ago were earning more money than they ever made before in their lives. Happily many did act with prudence and in the days when work was plentiful and wages were high with them they took practical thought of the morrow.

Perhaps the first value that comes from thrift consists of the preparation it gives one for the future.

Thrift is personal preparedness. Those who neglect to practice it are playing with fate. It is just as necessary for the individual to be safeguarded against future calamity as it is for a nation or a business concern to make preparations for future emergencies.

Thrift is fundamentally an economic application of the law of self-preservation. Whatever progress has been made by nations of men is due in the final analysis to an application of the thrift principle. Mankind has progressed because of the instinct of being by for the future—of piling up resources today against tomorrow's opportunities and requirements.

The lesson of thrift one reads on the page of current history should be taken in a personal way by every citizen of America. The man who is employed or is in comfortable circumstances today should bear in mind that the days of adversity may come to him as they have come to many others.

Life is made up of sunshine and rain, of success and failure. No man is too rich or too poor or too independent to be above the need of thrift. It is a fundamental of correct living. To neglect it under any circumstance is to court failure and disaster.

Tree as Nursemaid.

"The larch or tamarack, is the best nurse," said the forester, who was busy planting a double line of little larches on the edge of a new plantation. He explained that the street, quick-growing larch was the best tree to protect others from frost and drought. "And if you are planting a larch hedge," he added, "it will pay you to plant white-thorn on the windward side, for the white-thorn will protect the larch and can be cut back later when it has served its purpose."

Those Who Dare Not Sift.

The ludicrous has its place in the universe. It is not a human weakness, but one of the divine ideas thrust in the practical jokes of life and misadventure. Curious it is that we always consider solemnity and soberness of wit as essential to the life of the future life of those who will be the saviors of half their brethren and then call them blowers.

There are not a few who, even in this life, seem to be preparing themselves for that soulless eternity in which they look forward, to having all gayety from their hearts and all joyousness from their countenances. I met one such in the streets not long ago, a person of refinement and education, but who gave me the chilling look of a person with a chilling look of resignation—saying as if he were one of those who would doubt he would cut his brethren's throats in the next life—playing with the damned eternally.
